The agreement do work for a contractor opposing forces, the carpenters' union and the builders' exchange, will hold meetings tonight.

It is claimed by those who have kept in close touch with the situation tonight not to sign the scale. One prominent journeymen carpenter claims that this action will be taken to discourage other branches of the trade from making demands. The contractors, he states, recognize that the arpenters are the poorest paid mechanics in the city and would willing ly grant the increase were it not for the demands of the others. It is solely to resist a general advance that the demand of the carpenters is resisted.

"The fight now is between the car penters' union, with the independent contractors as allies, and the builders' exchange," said another prominent journeyman carpenter to the News Review today. "There are independent contractors enough in the city to do all the residence building, but if the number proves insufficient, the local can turn out from 10 to 15 more. "After the first of April a number of journeymen in the different branches will become independent sub-contractors and we will experience no further difficulty. The carpenters now have an agreement with the contractors whereby they are to charge 50 cents per day more than the scale when working for individuals. They will not go into such an agreement for the coming year."

"The cost of building will not be inreased 14 per cent, according to our way of figuring it," the journeymen replied to a question by the reporter This statement emanated from certain contractors who are trying to create a sentiment against the demands of the men. If the contractors add 14 per cent to their estimates to meet the increase in wages they will make an additional profit of 9 per cent. Calculate it this way: Say the increase amounts to 50 cents per day to every man and that 100 days are necessary to erect a $1,000 structure, the additional cost of the labor would be but $50, which is only 5 per cent. THE PENNELL CASE POSTPONED.

Absence of Witness from City Responsible-Friends of Pennell Endeavor to Avert Inquiry-Case May Never Be Called.

Buffalo, March 31 .- Judge Murphy radically cure the trouble. Advised No arrests will be made; no warrants will be issued. The court's findings will be interesting as a commentary on the famous case. The inquest was closed formally by Judge Murphy thoroughly grasp this fact; before I after hearing the testimony of Quina of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney kill one man, even if he went to the were called

The Pennell inquest was postponed indefinitely. The reason announced was the absence of witnesses from the such estimation in and around East city. District Attorney Coatsworth mine advised me through a newspaper to go ahead and that the postponement was not at his request. One promises what can be expected-or was Wallace Thayer, Pennell's attorney and confidential friend up to the time of his death. A dozen or more witnesses in the Pennell inquest were present, ready to give testimony, so if deemed advisable the inquest could have proceeded and at some later day Mr. Thayer could have been examined.

Considerable pressure has been brought to bear by friends of the Pennells to avert the inquest and postpone it indefinitely, if not block it permanently. The efforts, of course, had no weight with the court, and Judge Murphy's decision not to hold the inquest at present was based on all the circumstances of the case. When the Pennell inquest will be held, if at all, is not yet settled. When it is held the probability is that neither in Pennell's papers nor effects will anything be produced to throw light on the Burdick case. The Pennell heirs have been reluctant from the outset to have any of the dead man's papers made public. When Justice Murphy was about to begin the Pennell inquest fast week at the close of the Burdick inquest Attorney Thomas Penney appeared before Judge Murphy in private and argued earnestly against the beginning of the inquest at that time and opposed holding any inquest. Mr. Penney insisted upon the postponement and Judge Murphy yielded. The Pennell inquest was postponed indefinitely. The reason announced was the absence of witnesses from the city. District Attorney Coatsworth was in court and said he was read? to go ahead and that the postponement was not at his request. One witness was absent from the city. He was Wallace Thayer, Pennell's attorney and confidential friend up to the time of his death. A dozen or more witnesses in the Pennell inquest were not take advantage of his neighbor's present, ready to give testimony, so if deemed advisable the inquest could have proceeded and at some later day

Mr. Thayer could have been examined. Considerable pressure has been brought to pear by friends of the Pennells to avert the inquest and postpone it indefinitely, if not block it permanently. The efforts, of course, had no weight with the court, and Judge Murphy's decision not to hold the inquest at present was based on all the circumstances of the case. When the Pennell inquest will be held, if at all, is not yet settled. When it is held the probability is that neither in Pennell's papers nor effects will anything be produced to throw light on the Burdick case. The Pennell heirs have been reluctant from the outset to have any of the dead man's papers made public. When Justice Murphy was about to begin the Pennell inquest last week at the close of the Burdick inquest Attorney Thomas Penney appeared before Judge Murphy in private and argued earnestly against the beginning of the inquest at that time and opposed holding any inquest. Mr.

Penney insisted upon the postponement and Judge Murphy yielded. Husband Finds Wife Entertaining Another Man and Fight Ensues.

Pistol Shot Proves Fatal.

New York, March 31 .- Filled with ealous anger at finding another man being entertained by his wife. William J. Peopler threw the visitor out into the hall, fought him from the third floor to the front door of the apartment house in which he lived, with the wife screaming and weeping at their heels, and was there shot dead by the man who he thought had wronged him.

This man was William Earl Dobson, a cashier in a stockbroker's office. He fled and the police have sent out a general alarm for him. Peppler was about 26 years old and a clerk He had not been married long. A policeman, summoned by cries of the other tenants of the bouse, who were alarmed by the shooting, rushed into the building and in the hall stumbled over the dead body of Peppler, on which his wife was lying unconscious. Peppler had been shot in the side, the bullet passing clear through the body.

After being revived Mrs. Peppler gether when her husband returned unexpectedly from work and a fight followed, resulting in Dobson being thrown out of the room and pursued downstairs by her husband. In the lower hall the men clinched again and Dobson fired. After that the woman remembered nothing, for she

OZOMULSION

(a scientifically medicated emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites and Guaiacol) has been prescribed by the physicians of Greater New York and all other large cities in their daily practice.

They have used it with marked success in all cases of Weak Lungs, Colds, Coughs, Catarrh, Consumption and Throat Troubles; for Scrofula, Eczema, Pimples, Boils, Abscesses, and all skin affections. In fact, for all disorders caused by Mal Nutrition or the weaknesses of a body that is improperly or poorly fed.

As a result, Ozomulsion has to-day a larger sale than any other emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and is carried in stock by every druggist in the United States.

But still it may be that you have never tried it. So we have decided to make it possible for all to give it a test. We will therefore Hyomei Cures Catarrh Without Danger of Drugging the Stomach.

Not until Hyomei was discovered has it been possible to truthfully say that a remedy for catarrh was known. This remedy is breathed through the Hyomei inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and during that time every particle of air taken into the air passages and lungs is impregnated with the germ killing and health giving Hyomei. It is the only treatment that cures catarrh.

Stomach drugging often causes discrobes and gives perfect health.

East Liverpool had a humane society a year or two ago. Perhaps the organization is still in existence, in name though not in reality. But it is plain to every person who walks the streets that the city has no society that is doing what is could and ought along the line of protecting helpless dumb creatures from inhuman cruelty. Halfstarved and overworked horses are by no means an uncommon sight. Neither is it a rare occurrence to see heavily loaded teams stuck fast in the mud, or striving to climb a hill with a load too great for their strength. while drivers less intelligent than the creatures they have charge of are pitilessly lashing the horses with cruel blacksnake whips-an invention of the devil, if ever there was one, which should be abolished by law. The big crevasse three miles south is impossible to say what the ultimate breadth will be if the efforts to strengthen the ends and prevent further cutting are not successful. A large force of men is still engaged in this work.

So far as known not a single life has been lost as a result of the breakirg of the levee and the subsequent flooding of the country. There have been many rumors of persons drowned, but to date not one of them have been confirmed. Rescue boats are out in every direction and all refugees brought to the city are being cared for. Persons who have returned from the crevasse south of the city report that a second has occurred about 500 feet north of the first break. The new crevasse is about 400 feet wide. This new opening will add to the volume of water that is flowing inland from the swollen Mississippi, but it is not considered that it will serve to complicate the situation further than possibly to make greater the overflowed

East Liverpool had a humane society a year or two ago. Perhaps the organization is still in existence, in name though not in reality. But it is plain to every person who walks the streets that the city has no society that is doing what is could and ought along the line of protecting helpless dumb creatures from inhuman cruelty. Halfstarved and overworked horses are by no means an uncommon sight. Neither is it a rare occurrence to see heavily loaded teams stuck fast in the mud, or striving to climb a hill with a load too great for their strength. while drivers less intelligent than the creatures they have charge of are pitilessly lashing the horses with cruel blacksnake whips-an invention of the devil, if ever there was one, which should be abolished by law. If there is a city anywhere in the world where an active and vigilant humane society could make itself useful it is East Liv erpool. It is no easy task for horses to climb our hills or to haul loads over the numerous muddy roads in the vi BRUSH BROS. When, as is frequently the case, horses that are galled and lame, are placed at the mercy of brutal or ignorant drivers and beaten for no fault of their own, the sight is a burning shame and a disgrace to'a Christian community. That a city that contains more than a dozen churches and many thousand professing Christians should have no humane society in act ive operation is a state of affairs not at all creditable. Greenville, Miss., March 31.-There is little change in the flood situation. The cutting of the protection levee at the northern border of the town has given no perceptible relief in letting out the water. On the contrary, a rise is still in progress generally throughout the city. The electric light plant is being rapidly pumped out and it is possible that the com pany will soon be able to resume.

The big crevasse three miles south of the city continues to widen and it is impossible to say what the ultimate breadth will be if the efforts to strengthen the ends and prevent further cutting are not successful. A large force of men is still engaged in this work

So far as known not a single life has been lost as a result of the breaking of the levee and the subsequent flooding of the country. There have been many ramors of persons drowned, but to date not one of them have been confirmed. Rescue boats are out in every direction and all refugees brought to the city are being cared for.

Persons who have returned from the crevasse south of the city report that a second has occurred about 500 feet north of the first break. The new crevasse is about 400 feet wide. This new opening will add to the volume of water that is flowing inland from the swollen Mississippi, but it is not considered that it will serve to complicate the situation further than possibly to make greater the overflowed sheep. I struggled against my sufferings, de spite their growing intensity, but I failed completely, and I made up my mind that unless I soon received help I must die. The medicines I took seemed to do me no good, and I was truly a pitiable object. I was white as a sheet and so weak I could hardly walk along the street without staggering. My friends were constantly telling me that I had consumption or some mysterious incurable disease. At length, through the biessing of Divine Providence, I heard of the discovery of a medicine which would do wonderful things. This medicine was 'Blood Wine.' I sent for some of it and began to take it, and the result was simply marvelous. As true as I live, that medicine alone entirely cured me and made me a well woman. Lots of my neighbors who know all about it will stand by me in everything I have said. My health is now excellent, and I do my work with a light heart and a strong body. I'cople need not talk about medicines. The medicine for all who are sick is 'Blood Wine.'"

Dizzy Spells, Pain and Choking.

Monday, April 6, 1903. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Saved My Life.

> Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sure to do what no other medicine can do. If your heart troubles you, you cannot afford delay or mis-take in choice of a remedy. For many years this preparation has been curing cases that otherwise would not have been cured. Read what it has done for others. It will do the same for you:

"I write you this letter through gratitude for the benefit I have received by taking your valuable remedies. For three years I your valuable remedies. For three years I was subject to dizzy spells, sometimes several in a day. When I had them I could not raise my head from the pillow. My heart was greatly affected and I frequently had spells of severe palpitation and fluttering, pain, tenderness, choking sensations, could not lie on my left side and was not able to do any work. I called a doctor who helped me some but the dizzy spells grew more frequent and I was so yery nervous that I did me some but the dizzy spells grew more frequent and I was so very nervous that I did not care to live. One day I asked the Lord to take me from this world or put my eyes on something that would help me. The first paper I took up was a New York paper and in it I saw your advertising. My husband got me three bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and one box of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills since which time I have had no more dizzy spells. For some time Mrs. Smith has been missing various articles of wearing apparel, table cloths, napkins and dishes, and was at a loss on whom to fasten suspicion. Lately she suspected the domestic and last night previous to her departure to visit friends in East Liverpool went to the room of the woman and made an investigation of the contents of a bundle that was securely tied with rones

The bundle was found to contain a miscellaneous selection of bed sheets, table cloths, slippers, laces and other articles. Mrs. Smith asked an explanation. When confronted by the array of property the girl did not appear to be much surprised and told Mrs. Smith to pick out what she considered belonged to her.

All of the goods were held by Mrs. Smith, and an investigation of a telescope valise was made which developed the fact that much property belonging to Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. James A. Flood, was in this recepta-

Waterbury, Conn., March 31 .--Eighteen men placed under arrest on the charge of assault with intent to kill is the record of activity on the part of the police in their efforts to discover the authors of some of the outbreaks of violence which have oc curred since the beginning of the strike of motormen and conductors cf the Connecticut Railway and Light ing company 11 weeks ago. The men arrested are charged in the warrants with assault on William T. Merner and George Morrisette on the night of Feb. 26 with intent to kill. These two men were the non-union employes of the trolley company who has charge of a car which was attacked at a lonely spot on the Waterville Both were assaulted and one was beaten into insensibility and left lying on the rails. This occurred a little more than a week prior to the attack of a similar nature on a car at Forest Park, when Policeman Paul Mendelssohn was killed by a bullet from a mob of masked men. Since the murder was committed detectives, attracted by the large rewards of fered, have been quietly at work While the arrests are nominally for the assault of Feb. 26, the officials do not deny that they hope from this action to learn something that will clear up the mystery of Mendelssohn's

Colonel L. F. Burpee, attorney for ing company, said in an interview that he had strong evidence against the men arrested for the Waterville assault and that he felt quite confident of tracing out the murderer of Officer Mendelssohn. Colonel Burpee added that warrants for 22 men have been issued.

Although the officials decline to indicate the nature of the evidence on which the arrests are based, a report which seemed to be reliable is current to the effect that one man would turn state's evidence. One of the attorneys for 'he defense said he had heard this report, but that it was not true of any of the three or four men for whom he had been retained.

COTTEN MILLS IDLE.

Organized Labor Closes Seven of the Largest Texile Plants of Lowell, Mass.

NOSTRIKE ATLAWRENCE HOSIERY

Strikers Are Quiet and Nothing Occurred on Streets to Warrant Criticism-No Work Being Done Except in Finishing Rooms and Offices.

Lowell, Mass., March 31.-Organfzed textile labor showed its strength in the shutdown of the seven largest cotten mills here and, not content with this, the textile council, the delegate body of the local unions, considered the advisability of compelling an even wider application of the shutdown order by bringing about a strike in the Lawrence hosiery. This hoslery was exempted from the strike order last week, the knitters' union being permitted to remain neutral, as It had shown that it had no grievance either in wages or time schedule. The council did not find the took is not favorable for a strike of the knitters.

This incident was the chief one of the first day of the unprecedented shutdown of the big cotton mills in Lowell. No trouble of any kind occurred at the mill gates through which some operatives passed at different times, and nothing occurred on the streets or at the meeting places of the strikers to bring forth criticism.

AMONG LOCAL SPORTS Great Interest Taken in the Big Match Which Comes Off

Tonight. The sporting fraternity of East Liv erpool, as in all other cities in the United States, is entirely taken up with the great fight that is to take place at San Francisco tenight between "Terrible Terry" McGovern and Young Corbett. So interested indeed are some of the local sporting men that they have arranged to go to Pittsburg this evening, where they will get the returns of the fight by rounds.

It is safe to say that in recent years no match has caused such world-wide talk. Betting has been free, with Mc Govern almost the universal choice the odds being given on every hand in his favor. However, the friends and backers of Corbett say that he will give McGovern a bad beating and that the fight will not last more than 10 rounds. In this city McGovern has proposition well received and the out- possibly the most admirers. YOUNG LADY FIRES AT NOVELIST

Claims She Did Not Mean to Kill-M. Prevost Refused to Appear and Woman Is Set at Liberty.

Paris, March 31 .-- Considerable stir was created by the news of an attempt to shoot the well-known novelist, Marcel Prevost. It appears that as M. Prevost was entering the offices of the Society of Men of Letters, in dressed young woman, whose name was afterwards given as Mlle. Emma Touret, alighted quickly from a carriage and fired two shots from a revolver at him, at the same time calling him by name. Both shots missed and the woman was about to fire a third time when M. Prevost disarmed her. She was taken temporarily into custody and explained that she had known M. Prevost in London some time ago. His avoidance of her since that time had prompted her to seek to avenge herself, but she did not intend to kill the novelist.

M. Prevost refused to follow up the matter and M. Touret was set at liberty. It is stated that the woman's M. Prevost.

In a small apartment, carpeted with matting and surrounded by glazed cabinets full of rare and costly curios, Mr. Vandeleur was stooping over the body of Mr. Rolles. He raised himself as Francis entered, and there was an instantaneous passage of hands. It was the business of a second. As fast as the eve can wink the thing was done. The young man had not the time to be sure, but it seemed to him as if the dictator had taken something from the curate's breast, looked at it for the least fraction of time as it lay in his hand and then suddenly and swiftly passed it to his daughter.

Mrs. Allie Jackson, of Farmer City, Ill., writes: "My seven months old baby was troubled a great deal with his stomach and bowels. I had tried numerous remedies with no good results, until the baby lost much flesh, and was in poor health. A friend recommended Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I procured a 500 bottle at the drug store and gave the contents to the baby according to directions, after which there was a decided improvement in his condition. Have been giving him Syrup Pepsin for about a month, with very satisfactory results, his stomach and bowels being in good healthy condition and his former weight regained."

Branch after branch slipped from his grasp and broke under his weight. They, be caught a stalwart bough under his armpit and hung suspended for a second, and then he let himself drop and fell heavily against the table. A cry of alarm from the house warned him that his entrance had not been effected unobserved. He recovered himself with a stagger and in three bounds crossed the intervening space and stood before the door in the veranda.

In a small apartment, carpeted with matting and surrounded by glazed cabinets full of rare and costly curios, Mr. Vandelenr was stooping over the body of Mr. Rolles. He raised himself as Francis entered, and there was an instantaneous passage of hands. It was the business of a second. As fast as the eye can wink the thing was done. The young man had not the time to be sure, but it seemed to him as if the dictator had taken something from the curate's breast, looked at it for the least fraction of time as it lay in his hand and then suddenly and swiftly passed it to his daughter.

All this was over while Francis had moment of some annoyance, a guest having fainted at my table, to besiege me with your protestations. You are no son of mine. You are my brother's pastard by a fishwife, if you want to know. I regard you with an indifference closely bordering on aversion, and from what I now see of your conduct judge your mind to be exactly suitable to your exterior. I recommend you these mortifying reflections for your leisure, and, in the meantime, let me beseech you to rid us of your presence. If I were not occupied," added the dictator, with a terrifying oath, "I should give you the unholiest drubbing ere you went."

Francis listened in profound humillation. He would have fled had it been possible; but, as he had no means of leaving the residence into which he had so unfortunately penetrated, he could do no more than stand foolishly where the dictator's first reply. "Son and father?" he cried. "Father in my garden? What do you want? And who, in God's name, are you?"

Francis, with a stunned and shamefaced aspect, got upon his feet again and stood in silence.

What dashed unnatural that I have considerable influence with comedy is all this? How do you come your father, and it shall not be my fault if you are not beggared of your allowance and sent back to your scrivening ere the week be out."

The tones of the old man's voice were, if possible, more wounding than his Then a light seemed to break upon language. Francis felt himself exposed to the most cruel, blighting and unbearable contempt. His head turned, and he covered his face with his hands, uttering at the same time a tearless sob of agony. But Miss Vandeleur once again interfered in his behalf.

"Mr. Scrymgeour," she said, speaking in clear and even tones, "you must not be concerned at my father's harsh expressions. I felt no disgust for you. On the contrary, I asked an opportunity to make your better acquaintance. As for what has passed tonight, believe me it has filled my mind with both pity and esteem.

Just then Mr. Rolles made a convulsive movement of his arm, which convinced Francis that he was only drugged and was beginning to throw off the influence of the opiate. Mr. Vandeleur stooped over him and examined his face for an instant.

"Come, come!" cried he, raising his head. "Let there be an end of this.

"That was a close shave," thought Francis to himself, "What he wants with me and why he should be so disturbed I cannot think, but he is plainly not good company for the moment, and I cannot do better than follow Miss Vandeleur's advice."

So saving, he turned to retrace his steps, thinking to double and descend by the Rue Lepic itself while his pursuer should continue to follow after him on the other line of street. The plan was ill devised. As a matter of fact, he should have taken his seat in the nearest cafe and waited there until the first heat of the pursuit was over. But besides that Francis had no experience and little natural aptitude for the small war of private life. He was so unconscious of any evil on his part that he saw nothing to fear beyond a disagreeable interview, and to disagreeable interviews he felt he had already served his apprenticeship that evening; nor could be suppose that

Husband Finds Wife Entertaining Another Man and Fight Ensues. Pistol Shot Proves Fatal.

New York, March 31 .- Filled with ealous anger at finding another man being entertained by his wife, William J. Peppler threw the visitor out into the hall, fought him from the third floor to the front door of the apartment house in which he lived, with When Justice Murphy was about to the wife screaming and weeping at their heels, and was there shot dead at the close of the Burdick inquest by the man who he thought had wronged him.

This man was William Earl Dobson, a cashier in a stockbroker's office. He fled and the police have sent out a general alarm for him. Peppler was about 26 years old and a clerk. He had not been married long.

A policeman, summoned by cries of the other tenants of the house, who were alarmed by the shooting, rushed into the building and in the hall stumbled over the dead body of Peppler, on which his wife was lying unconscious. Peppler had been shot in the side, the bullet passing clear through the body.

After being revived Mrs. Pe said that she and Dobson were tothrown out of the room and pursued one. downstairs by her husband. In the woman remembered nothing, for she Dobson was arrested in the apartments of friends. He took his arrest very calmly and refused to make any sary for Judge Murphy to announce statement. At the police station he said he had a wife and two children quest should it be deemed necessary in Washington. He was locked up.

It was decided by the strikers to seek a settlement through arbitration on the question of wages, hours and the time limit of the agreement with the union. The recognition of the union, a walking delegate and other minor demands of the workmen were granted at the conference. The decision of the arbitration committee must be made by April 30.

They cured him. Now when a gallows for it. No other witnesses were called.

The Pennell inquest was postponed indefinitely. The reason announced was the absence of witnesses from the city. District Attorney Coatsworth was in court and said he was ready to go ahead and that the postponement was not at his request. One witness was absent from the city. He was Wallace Thaver. Pennell's attorney and confidential friend up to the time of his death. A dozen or more witnesses in the Pennell inquest were present, ready to give testimony, so if deemed advisable the inquest could have proceeded and at some later day Mr. Thayer could have been examined.

Considerable pressure has been brought to bear by friends of the Pennells to avert the inquest and postpone it indefinitely, if not block it permanently. The efforts, of course, had no weight with the court, and Judge Murphy's decision not to hold the inquest at present was based on all the circumstances of the case When the Pennell inquest will be held, if at all, is not yet settled. When it is held the probability is that neither in Pennell's papers nor effects will anything be produced to throw light on the Burdick case. The Pennell heirs have been reluctant from the outset to have any of the dead man's papers made public. begin the Pennell inquest last week Attorney Thomas Penney appeared before Judge Murphy in private and argued earnestly against the beginning of the inquest at that time and opposed holding any inquest. Mr. Penney insisted upon the postponement and Judge Murphy yielded. After considering the matter and learning that Attorney Thayer was out of the city Judge Murphy post-

East Liverpool had a humane society a year or two ago. Perhaps the organ ization is still in existence, in name though not in reality. But it is plain to every person who walks the streets that the city has no society that is doing what is could and ought along the line of protecting helpless dumb creatures from inhuman cruelty. Halfstarved and overworked horses are by no means an uncommon sight. Neither is it a rare occurrence to see heavily loaded teams stuck fast in the mud, or striving to climb a hill with a load too great for their strength, while drivers less intelligent than the creatures they have charge of are pitilessly lashing the horses with cruel blacksnake whips-an invention of the devil, if ever there was one, which should be abolished by law. If there is a city anywhere in the world where ould make itself useful it is East Liverpool. It is no easy task for horses to climb our hills or to haul loads over the numerous muddy roads in the vicinity, even if the greatest of care and good judgment is exercised in loading and driving. When, as is frequently the case, horses that are galled and lame, are placed at the mercy of brutal or ignorant drivers and beaten for no fault of their own, the sight is a burning shame and a disgrace to'a Christian community. That a city that contains more than a dozen churches and many thousand professing Christians push paint to the front. We should have no humane society in act ive operation is a state of affairs not at all creditable. The church people and all others who abhor cruelty could SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS, not do a more praiseworthy thing than No. 122 to take the matter up and put a por- and are ready to serve your tion at least of their charity and relig ion to use in behalf of suffering dumb

CREVASSE CONTINUES TO WIDEN

Water Still Rising and No Relief in Sight-No Fatalities Re-

Greenville, Miss., March 31.-There is little change in the flood situation. The cutting of the protection levee at the northern border of the town has given no perceptible relief in letting out the water. On the contrary, a rise is still in progress generally throughout the city. The electric light plant is being rapidly pumped out and it is possible that the company will soon be able to resume.

The big crevasse three miles south of the city continues to widen and it is impossible to say what the ultimate breadth will be if the efforts to strengthen the ends and prevent further cutting are not successful. A large force of men is still engaged in

So far as known not a single life has been lost as a result of the breakirg of the levee and the subsequent flooding of the country. There have been many ramors of persons drowned, but to date not one of them have been confirmed. Rescue boats are out in every direction and all refugees brought to the city are being cared for.

Persons who have returned from the crevasse south of the city report that a second has occurred about 500 feet north of the first break. The new crevasse is about 400 feet wide. This new opening will add to the volume of water that is flowing inland from the swollen Mississippi, but it is not considered that it will serve to complicate the situation further than possibly to make greater the overflowed sleep. I struggled against my sufferings, despite their growing intensity, but I failed completely, and I made up my mind that unless I soon received help I must die. The medicines I took seemed to do me no good, and I was truly a pitiable object. I was white as a sheet and so weak I could hardly walk along the street without staggering. My friends were constantly teiling me that I had consumption or some mysterious incurable disease. At length, through the blessing of Divine Providence, I heard of the discovery of a medicine which would do wonderful things. This medicine was 'Blood Wine.' I sent for some of it and began to take It, and the result was simply marvelous. As true as I live, that medicine alone entirely cured me and made me a well woman. Lots of my neighbors who know all about it will stand by me in everything I have said. My health is now excellent, and I do my work with a light heart and a strong body. YOUNG LADY FIRES AT NOVELIST

Claims She Did Not Mean to Kill-M. Prevost Refused to Appear and Woman Is Set at Liberty.

Paris, March 31 .-- Considerable stir was created by the news of an attempt to shoot the well-known novelist, Marcel Prevost. It appears that as M. Prevost was entering the offices of the Society of Men of Letters, in the Rue Rougemont, a stylishly dressed young woman, whose name Touret, alighted quickly from a carriage and fired two shots from a revolver at him, at the same time calling him by name. Both shots missed and the woman was about to fire a third time when M. Prevost disarmed her. She was taken temporarily into custody and explained that she hadknown M. Prevost in London some time ago. His avoidance of her since that time had prompted her to seek to avenge herself, but she did not intend to kill the novelist.

M. Prevost refused to follow up the matter and M. Touret was set at liberty. It is stated that the woman's brother vainly tried to force a duel on M. Prevost.

Prisoners Are Charged With Assault and Attempt to Kill Non-Union Men.

TWENTY-TWO WARRANTS ISSUED

Detectives, Attracted by Large Rewards, Are Busily at Work-Murder of Mendelssohn Still Shrouded in Mystery.

Waterbury, Conn., March 31 .--Eighteen men placed under arrest on the charge of assault with intent to kill is the record of activity on the part of the police in their efforts to discover the authors of some of the outbreaks of violence which have oc curred since the beginning of the strike of motormen and conductors of the Connecticut Railway and Light ing company 11 weeks ago. The men with assault on William T. Merner and George Morrisette on the night of Feb. 26 with intent to kill. These two men were the non-union employes the trolley company who had charge of a car which was attacked line. Both were assaulted and one was beaten into insensibility and left lying on the rails. This occurred a little more than a week prior to the attack of a similar nature on a car at Forest Park, when Policeman Paul Mendelssohn was killed by a bullet from a mob of masked men. Since the murder was committed detectives, attracted by the large rewards offered, have been quietly at work. While the arrests are nominally for the assault of Feb. 26, the officials do not deny that they hope from this action to learn something that will clear up the mystery of Mendelssohn's death.

Colonel L. F. Burpee, attorney for ing company, said in an interview that he had strong evidence against the men arrested for the Waterville assault and that he felt quite confident of tracing out the murderer of Officer Mendelssohn. Colonel Burpee added that warrants for 22 men have been issued.

Although the officials decline to indicate the nature of the evidence on which the arrests are based, a report which seemed to be reliable is current to the effect that one man would turn state's evidence. One of the attorneys for 'he defense said he had heard this report, but that it was not true of any of the three or four men for whom he had been retained.

Pleasant to the taste - contains nothing which can harm the most delicate organism. Physicians will testify to the truth of this statement. See page 21 of our book of "Proofs." Write for it today.

Mrs. Allie Jackson, of Farmer City, Ill., writes: "My seven months old baby was troubled a great deal with his stomach and bowels. I had tried numerous remedies with no good results, until the baby lost much flesh, and was in poor health. A friend recommended Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I procured a 50c bottle at the drug store and gave the contents to the baby according to directions, after which there was a decided improvement in his condition. Have been giving him Syrup Pepsin for about a month, with very satisfactory results, his stomach and bowels being in good healthy condition and his former weight regained."

Branch after branch slipped from his grasp and broke under his weight. They be caught a stalwart bough under his armpit and hung suspended for a second, and then he let himself drop and fell heavily against the table. A ery of alarm from the house warned him that his entrance had not been effected unobserved. He recovered himself with a stagger and in three bounds crossed the intervening space and stood before the door in the veranda.

In a small apartment, carpeted with matting and surrounded by glazed cabinets full of rare and costly curios, Mr. Vandelenr was stooping over the body of Mr. Rolles. He raised himself as Francis entered, and there was an instantaneous passage of hands. was the business of a second. As fast as the eye can wink the thing was done. The young man had not the time to be sure, but it seemed to him from the curate's breast, looked at it for the least fraction of time as it lay in his hand and then suddenly and swiftly passed it to his daughter.

All this was over while Francis had still one foot upon the threshold and moment of some annoyance, a guest having fainted at my table, to besiege me with your protestations. You are no son of mine. You are my brother's pastard by a fishwife, if you want to know. I regard you with an indifference closely bordering on aversion, and from what I now see of your conduct judge your mind to be exactly suitable to your exterior. I recommend you these mortifying reflections for your leisure, and, in the meantime, let me beseech you to rid us of your presence. If I were not occupied," added the dictator, with a terrifying oath, "I should give you the unholiest drub-

It was Miss Vandeleur who broke as if the dictator had taken something the silence. "Father," she said, "you speak in anger. Mr. Scrymgeour may have been mistaken, but he meant well and kindly.

Then a light seemed to break upon Mr. Vandeleur and he laughed aloud. "I see," cried he. "It is the Scrymgeour. Very well, Mr. Scrymgeour. Let me tell you in a few words how you stand. You have entered my private residence by force, or perhaps by fraud, but certainly with no encour-

What dashed unnatural that I have considerable influence with comedy is all this? How do you come your father, and it shall not be my fault if you are not beggared of your allowance and sent back to your scrivening ere the week be out.

The tones of the old man's voice were, if possible, more wounding than his language. Francis felt himself exposed to the most cruel, blighting and unbearable contempt. His head turned, and he covered his face with his hands, uttering at the same time a tearless sob of agony. But Miss Vandeleur once again interfered in his behalf. "Mr. Scrymgeour," she said, speaking in clear and even tones, "you must not be concerned at my father's harsh expressions. I felt no disgust for you. On the contrary, I asked an opportunity to make your better acquaintance. As for what has passed tonight, believe me it has filled my mind with both pity and esteem." Just then Mr. Rolles made a convulsive movement of his arm, which convinced Francis that he was only drugged and was beginning to throw off the influence of the opiate. Mr. Vandeleur stooped over him and examined his face for an instant. "Come, come!" cried he, raising his head. "Let there be an end of this. And, since you are so pleased with his conduct, Miss Vandeleur, take a candle and show the cur out!"

The plan was ill devised. As a matter of fact, he should have taken his seat in the nearest cafe and waited there until the first heat of the pursuit was over.
